

AN INVITATION

When you've reached a certain point in your career, the question shifts from "What's next?" to "What truly matters?"

Something within you is quietly waiting to emerge. Your next path is unfolding, even if you're not yet sure what it is.

Join us for a retreat in the heart of Jakarta— an intentional space to pause, reflect, and step back from the everyday.

Using the Ikigai framework and a strengths-based tool, you'll map your strengths and explore your purpose, and clarify what a meaningful next path could look like for you.

Through a structured, facilitated process, you'll be supported to move beyond reflection into clearer direction, alongside a small cohort of peers navigating similar transitions.

Step away from the noise. Rediscover what matters.

Leave with a clearer sense of direction and concrete priorities to guide your next chapter.
